Tired Policeman

Mr. Hoover

Not So Dumb

I don't know what it's doing by now but precisely at 8:30 this morning I approached the intersection of Second and Main streets and found that the city's new automatic spring-wound non-electric traffic signal which sits out there in the middle of the intersection like a Mr. Five-by-Five policeman had (1) Busted, or (2) Run down, or (3) Had a moment of indecision and hung up on the word "Caution". Anyway, there it is for all the world to see — neither Yes nor No... just Maybe.

By state proclamation Arkansas is going to observe the birthday of America's only living ex-president, Herbert Hoover — and it's a nice gesture coming from a heavily Democratic community like ours.

On August 10 Mr. Hoover will be 75. In his time he was great and famous and beloved — but circumstances turned on him as they do sooner or later for all men in high office. He was blamed for a panic in these United States notwithstanding the fact that the same set of circumstances was turning government and causing revolution in other countries.

But time passes and men's tempers cool and today Mr. Hoover is still the great and honored man that we always knew him to be; and dread circumstance is now chasing other men who hold down the uneasy seat of government.

The Arkansas Gazette reported in a Little Rock local story this morning that "Arkansas farmers allowed a cold $6,301,476 to slip through their fingers July 31" by failing to redeem 523,123 bales of cotton which they had placed with the Commodity Credit corporation.

But one of Hope's most experienced cotton traders told me a few minutes ago that the story was preposterous.

He said it would have cost the farmers not less than 4 million dollars to redeem that cotton — perhaps 5 million.

That doesn't leave much margin of profit — and Mr. John Farmer wasn't quite as dumb as his Little Rock city cousin made him out to be.

Urges Crowd See School Caravan Here

Superintendent Norman Jones, urges all parents of Spring Hill school district to attend the educational caravan at Brookwood school in Hope, Tuesday, August 9, beginning at 10 a.m. Lunch will be served for 25 cents and free watermelon throughout the day.

This is such an important occasion that transportation will be offered by the district. On the morning of August 9 at 8:30 a bus will leave Spring Hill school and travel via Dooly-Ferry road to Hunt's store across to Cap Townsend stop on Highway 29, and up Highway 29 to Hope. Another bus will leave Spring Hill at 8:30 and travel the road through the Bobo settlement to Buck Martin's where it will make connection with the other bus.

"I sincerely hope the parents of this district will not miss this educational opportunity," said Mr. Jones.

Views United on Defense of Europe

Paris, Aug. 6 — Adm. Louis Denfeld, U. S. Navy member of the joint chiefs of staff, today said there is "great unanimity of opinion in the way the Atlantic pact defenses should be organized."

Denfeld spoke at a news conference in the American embassy which followed the talks by the American joint chiefs of staff with French, Belgian, Dutch and Portuguese military leaders.

At the conference with YNDAshrd, Denfeld said at a news conference in the American embassy which followed the talks by the American joint chiefs of staff with French, Belgian, Dutch and Portuguese military leaders.

At the conference with YNDAshrd, Denfeld described as "most successful" the talks of the American officers with western European military leaders this week.

He emphasized that the talks were confined to an exchange of views on "set ideas on military organization" and said no decisions were made.

"What we did was to get information so that we could better advise our own governments and made up our own minds on the best military organization" under the Atlantic pact, Denfeld said of the European trip.

Asked what sort of ideas were exchanged, he said "I prefer not to go into that."

Asked about a supreme military council for the 12-nation alliance, Denfeld said a lot of suggestions had been received. The whole thing "very fluid," he said, and he saw no difficulty in settling it.

Would a supreme council be set up by the end of the year, as he indicated in London?

"Well, that was just a date I picked up out of the air," Denfeld said. "I don't see any reason why it should not be done."

Broadcasters to Meet Next Year in Little Rock

Hot Springs, Aug. 6 — (AP) — Arkansas radio broadcasters will hold their 1950 meeting in Little Rock. This was decided at a one-day session of the group here yesterday.

Association members voted to amend the monetary value of the time their stations give to public service and to purchase a record playing machine and album of children's stories for use in children's convalescent centers.

Stabs His Landlady Shoots Self

Hot Springs, Aug. 6 — (AP) — A 60-year-old man stabbed his landlady and then shot himself with a 22 caliber rifle here last night. Police witnessed the shooting.

Police Lt. E. W. Rowe said the woman, Agnes Cummins, about 70, suffered serious injuries. She was stabbed four times in the abdomen and once in her left eye.

The man identified as Jim Smith suffered a bullet wound in his chin.

Both are hospitalized here.

Smith's condition is reported as critical.

Rowe, who said he did not know what caused the incident, gave this account:

Mrs. Cummins ran from her house after the attack and called police from a neighbor's house. Officers arrived on the scene a few minutes later. As they approached Smith sitting in a chair inside the house he fired the bullet into his face.

Education Bill Believed to Be Doomed

Washington, Aug. 6 (UP) — Prospects for passage of an aid-to-education bill at this session of congress appeared slim today despite a move by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Francis Cardinal Spellman to quiet religious controversy raging around the proposal.

Most congressional sources believed it is too late in the session to hope for action on the $300,000,000 measure now. They thought the proposal would have a better chance next year after hot tempers have cooled.

In joint statements issued last night neither Mrs. Roosevelt nor Cardinal Spellman retreated from positions they took earlier in an argument that prompted the cardinal to call the former first lady anti-Catholic.

But in re-stating their views on spending tax money in parochial schools, both took a conciliatory tack that plainly was aimed at halting the controversy which their original exchange helped to spread.

The squabble was touched off when Mrs. Roosevelt, in her column, "My Day," spoke kindly of an aid-to-education bill sponsored by Rep. Graham A. Barden, (D-N.C.) which would deny federal money to parochial schools.

On July 22 the cardinal published a letter to Mrs. Roosevelt, citing what he called her "record of anti-Catholicism" and asserting she wrote from ignorance, not knowledge. He said her stand was "unworthy of an American mother."

Mrs. Roosevelt, in her column, denied the accusations. And in a letter to the cardinal she reminded him that "the final judgment . . . of the worthiness of all human beings is in the hands of God."

In last night's statement the cardinal said Catholics are not asking for "general" public support for religious schools. But he said Catholics do want assurance that students in all schools, private and public, will share alike in distribution of "auxiliary services," such as transportation, free textbooks, and health aid.

The little war at Ongjin has been going on since late May, when a southern expedition by sea drove the northernites out. The northernites kept coming back, however, and did so in force the next day.

The southern chief of staff revealed that this last show of northern force occurred after his troops had occupied two strong points just over the border in the north.

He said these were lost in the fighting, which cost about 200 southern lives.

The question of who actually invaded whom may not be as important as this question: Whether the situation that makes invasion attractive to both sides can be ended without a bloody civil war, and whether that could be kept from expanding into something bigger, Russia and America both

Government May Gain by Fiscal Ruling

By CHARLES MONLY

Washington, Aug. 6 (UP) — The government, which this week began borrowing to meet its expenses, may be the chief gainer from the newest "easy credit" move by the federal reserve board.

After a conference on the issue yesterday with President Truman, both house Democratic Leader John McCormack and Labor Committee Chairman John Lesinski said they saw little hope for the Barden bill—or any other version of it—at this session.

The story is that there were about 100,000 young Koreans who joined or were drafted into the Japanese army. After the war ended, they bore the stigma of collaboration in the great wave of hatred against all who had worked with the Japanese. They had trouble finding jobs. Many became tramps and bandits; some of course joined the communists.

But thousands of them got into the southern Korean army, where they naturally are interested in any situation which might improve their lot and that of their fellows who didn't get it. My information is that the main idea of how to do this is to "reunify the country by reconquering the north."

They think it would make them all heroes.

One officer was asked recently

what if that results in a long war that would drag in Russia and America and bring on World War III?

"What of it?" was the gruff, Japanese-type reply.

400 Killed in Ecuador Earthquake

By CHARLES MONLY

Quito, Ecuador, Aug. 6 (UP) — Rescue workers reported today that 400 persons were killed and 3,000 injured in a violent series of earth tremors that shattered 30 cities and towns in the area some 70 miles south of Quito.

The city of Ambato, in the center of the quake area was one third destroyed. Officials reported 300 killed in Ambato alone, 60 in one church that collapsed.

The first tremor struck at 2 p.m. yesterday and was followed by 14 other long, slow earth waves, according to the Quito observatory.

Experts said it was presumed that an entire range of the Andes mountains was collapsing.

The quake destroyed sections of the pan-American highway south of Quito, hindering rescue work and caused a serious interruption in communications.

The government of President Galo Plaza Lasso ordered army rescue units organized to aid Red Cross teams. The rescue caravans were ordered to the disaster area but were delayed by the blocked roads.

The earthquake struck in a densely populated agricultural region.

It was the second in the Andes within two months. A quake in Chile killed 65 persons last June.

Most seriously damaged city next to Ambato was the summer resort town of Latacunga, 50 miles south of Quito. Twenty-seven were reported killed there. The towers of three churches collapsed and many houses were destroyed.

President Plaza Lasso and his minister of defense, Manuel Diaz Granados, left for the disaster area by airplane last night. Government planes also carried first aid crews to the area. Other planes were readied to fly in medical supplies and food today.

Telegraphic reports from Ambato said one third of the city's buildings were destroyed and the other bodies were damaged by huge cracks. An unofficial report set the death toll at 300. The bodies of 60 victims were recovered from one church that collapsed. Eighty other bodies were recovered from houses.

These reports said the Ambato river running through the center of the city, was rising to flood stage and threatening to overflow its banks. Ambato has a population of 32,000.

The broadcasting station of the Shell Oil Co. in Ambato said the terror-stricken population had fled to the open country. This report said the city was almost entirely in ruins.

The Ambato police chief reported that the police headquarters building

Kramer Puts Red Sox in Flag Race

Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Kramer's return to 1948 form with a six-hit shutout for Boston may be the most important development in the American league race since Joe DiMaggio rejoined the New York Yankees.

Failure of hardnose Jack to measure up to his brilliant 18-3 record of last year almost ruined the Red Sox in early season. Kramer lost six in a row until he finally broke the streak with relief help, July 24.

When Kramer cooled off the Tigers, 9-4, he became the sixth straight Boston starter to go the route.

Just as DiMaggio's return bolstered the league-leading Yanks in late June, Kramer could make the difference between pennant and an also ran to the Red Sox. Don Dimaggio contributed his bit with a double, hitting in his 32nd straight game. Vern Stephens bashed his 20th home.

Arrival of the St. Louis Browns proved to be just the tonic the faltering Yanks needed. Casey Stengel's gang broke loose with their roughest batting attacks in weeks, sweeping a doubleheader, 102 and 10-5.

The second game attack included Charley Keller's second hit and Yogi Berra's 14th with the bases loaded.

Although Cleveland whipped Philadelphia, 3-2, in a night game, the Tribe dropped back three full games behind the Yanks. Boston is 5-12 off the pace.

Mickey Haefner fired by Washington for "indifferent performance" a month ago, returned with the Chicago White Sox to whip the Senators, 4-1. Luke Appling, Sox vet, tied Rabbit Maranville's major league record by playing shortstop in 2153 games.

Gerry (The Giant Killer) Staley, who holds four decisions over the New York Giants, kept St. Louis in the National league lead with a 1-0 verdict over Leo DuBois' 1-0. In a tight duel with a double, hitting
